

We are passionate to manufacture the world's most trusted tungsten powders. Rely on us.

GTP fosters a quality culture by instilling quality awareness and empowering employee's to act responsibly to meet the needs and expectations of all their partners. The personnel are invested with knowledge, competencies and tools to consistently comply with all requirements trusted upon us.

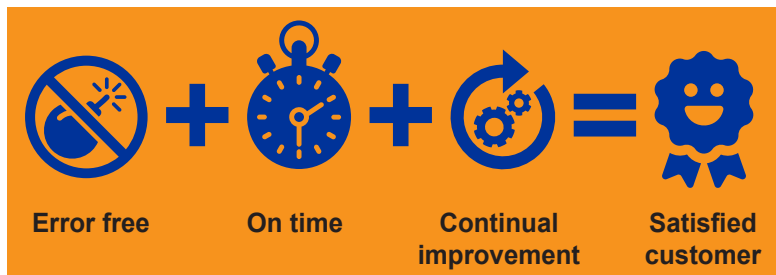

GTP's governing principles are derived from the Plansee Group code of conduct and deliver the structure for policy development as follows

- Operate within all laws
- Respect human rights
- Act in the group's best interests
- Conduct ourselves responsibly
- Ensure a state of the art Quality Management system

GTP's commitment to customer focus and continual improvement serves as the guiding force to ensure that

- Conforming products and services are consistently delivered
- Our relationships are mutually respectful and beneficial
- Our environment is protected and resources are used with care
- Employee's are aware of their safety and responsibility
- Raw materials are secure long term from conflict free regions
- Recycling capabilities secure a major portion our raw material supply capacity

This policy forms the framework for defining and evaluating the quality objectives and the management system.
